INDIGENOUS RELATIONS BUSINESS ENGAGEMENT

Listen as Joan shares the work we're doing on the Project to build mutually beneficial relationships with Indigenous groups, individuals and businesses.

“ Hi, my name is Joan. I am a Senior Advisor with Indigenous Relations Business Engagement at TC Energy. Our team has been working closely with Communities and businesses since we began engagement on the Project in 2017.

Indigenous Relations Business Engagement is one of our greatest opportunities to build mutually beneficial relationships with Indigenous groups. Our goal is to maximize opportunities for participation of local qualified and competitive Indigenous businesses and employ individuals from communities where we operate.

Most opportunities on the Project for local contracting will be identified and provided with our prime contractors who also include local contracting participation plans in their proposals. If you are interested in subcontracting and employment opportunities, please visit our Vendors' page at the link provided or if you have further questions reach out using our contact information. We are happy to connect with Indigenous communities who are expressing an interest in potential contracting, employment, and training opportunities. ”
